

Last evening's meeting went well. Only four of us were in attendance as, at the last minute, a couple of you couldn't make it.

The Show-and-Tell section of the meeting was good. I discussed and displayed a bunch of test pieces that I engraved or cut out with my new laser engraver. Tanis showed images of her latest bandsaw box. Al brought in a woodworking book he recommends. (Posted on our webpage)

We reviewed past projects (Puzzle Library and Bench builds), as well as the upcoming Mud Kitchen project. Plans for the Mud Kitchen have been posted, and supplies have been ordered. I hope to have all of the supplies by next Wednesday, or so, at which time I'll let everyone know a build date. I'm thinking we'll do the work in my driveway and transport the pieces to Lord of Life in my truck. I still haven't found 14"-16" diameter logs for use as seats. So, continue to keep an eye out for some.

Al Barna postponed his Bookshelf Workshop until next meeting.

Tentatively, I'm planning to have the August meeting at 6:30pm on Thursday the 21st. Please mark your calendars.

Please send ideas for future club projects and for topics for the August meeting.
